Teamsters, Carhaul Employer Group to Resume Negotiations

Bargaining Set to Restart at the End of February

Teamster negotiations for the Automobile Transporters Industry, National Master Automobile Transporters Agreement (NMATA) are scheduled to resume February 25-26 in Romulus, Mich.

The bargaining committees met in January and December to progress through negotiations. Several outstanding contract issues were largely resolved and both parties exchanged detailed economic proposals to evaluate ahead of the sessions scheduled in February.

“We’re continuing to work hard to get this contract done,” said Anthony Lamy, Local 710 Carhaul Business Agent and member of the National Auto Transporters Negotiating Committee. “We’ve been addressing economic issues and reviewing proposals in preparation for our next session.”

The NMATA covers approximately 6,000 Teamster carhaulers. Local 710 represents approximately 240 carhaulers in the Chicagoland area at Cassens and Jack Cooper Transport.

The Teamsters Union asks that all carhaul members continue to work as usual as negotiations continue. For more information, visit Teamster.org/divisions/carhaul.
